PLAN RELIGIOUS SURVEY at Orland Park
This group is part of the dozen or more ministerial students from Olivet Nazarene at Bourbonnais which will assist the Orland Park church of the Nazarene in conducting a religious survey Saturday, Sept. 12. The new pastor, the Rev. Dale Galloway, (seated center) explained that the purpose of the survey was to reach the unchurched people of the community. Surveys taken on a nationwide scale, it was said, show that in the process of moving most people lose all affiliation with church. The others in the picture were not identified.

Resists Officer

Orland Youth Draws $110 in Fines

An Orland Park youth who had an altercation with police there recently was fined a total of $110 on four charges heard before Justice of the Peace Roy Benson.

The judge suspended $75 of the fine, pending good behavior on the part of the defendant for the next six months. During that period he is to report to Benson every Saturday.

The defendant who had charged the arresting officer, Theodore Ludes, of the Orland Park department, with assault, withdrew the complaint.

The youth is Richard Hart, 18. He was represented at the hearing before Benson last week by Attorney Lee Rayson of Tinley Park. Orland Park's village attorney, Raymond Pieper, and an assistant states attorney, prosecuted the case.

Hart had been charged with driving too fast for conditions, driving a car without an operator's license, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and using foul and abusive language on a police officer.

Benson dismissed the driving too fast and Hart was adjudged guilty of the others. The defendant was fined $10 for driving without an operator's license and $100 on the other charges. Benson waived the costs.

Orland Park police have been bothered by young speeders of late and when Officer Ludes saw a car bo by him at what he considered too fast a pace for conditions, he started in pursuit.

At the Orland Park public school grounds he caught up with Hart and told him he was under arrest. According to the officer Hart cursed him and resisted arrest.

Hart claimed the officer struck him but Ludes countered that he did not use force except in self defense, contending that the defendant swung at him first. It was on this exchange apparently that Hart based his assault charge, which was withdrawn at the hearing.

Cities, Villages Get Sales Tax Paid in June

A total of $3,700,865 was collected thru imposition of the half cent sales tax by Illinois municipalities for June, and collected by the state in July. After the state had taken a 4% bite for collection and distribution there was a balance of $3,552,830 shared by 1,060 cities and villages. The number has since grown.

The total collected was more than a million dollars less than for the previous month, but this was due to a change in the filing date for such tax returns, it was explained, and not to a slump in business.

The net amount allotted to municipalities in this region is:

Coroner's Jury Makes No Recommendation In Francis Rd. Crash

A "Blue Ribbon" jury empaneled last Saturday to hear the evidence in a coroner's inquest into the speed crash that killed one boy and hospitalized another returned a verdict of accidental death but made no recommendation.

Coroner Willard G. Blood, who presided, was disappointed.

"There was no question but that the accident was caused by excessive speed," the coroner said. "There was no dispute of such evidence and I am disappointed that the jury failed to make a recommendation."

Members of the jury were all solid citizens from New Lenox—Lloyd Lindstrom, Lester Brown, Sheldon Hauck, C. W. Batson, Harry Geyer and Archie Corp.

The inquest was conducted at the Baskerville chapel, Lincoln highway, where funeral services had been held the preceding Sunday for Charles Vanny Neels, 15, New Lenox, who was killed when the car in which he riding took a curve on Francis road at high speed.

The accident occurred in the late afternoon of Sept. 27. It was Neels' 15th birthday.

He was a passenger in a car driven by a 14 year old New Lenox township boy, David Duffy.

Duffy and another boy, Kurt Warning, 14, of New Lenox, escaped with minor injuries and both testified at the inquest. A fourth boy, who had hitchhiked a ride, Kenneth Lorenz, 16, of Mokena, is in Silver Cross hospital with some fractured ribs and a broken pelvis.

The Duffy boy, who is two years under the age the state lawmakers hold to be sufficient to obtain a driver's license, admitted in his testimony that he was driving 75 miles an hour when he went into the curve in front of the Ray Powers farm, a mile and a half west of Mokena.

Francis road, the coroner pointed out, is a secondary road and is not built for speed. The curves are practically flat and vehicles that take them fast bear out and can go off the pavement and into the ditch quite easily. Even if they remain on the road, the coroner said, they are over in the wrong lane and a serious menace to safety.

Duffy said none of his passengers had protested against his high speed driving. He testified that the car belonged to his mother and that he had taken it without her permission and with his companions had driven in to Joliet to see a movie.

Coming out Francis road they encountered a boy who was signalling for a ride. Duffy said he stopped and picked him up. This was the Lorenz boy. He had been working at the Olsen kennels near New Lenox and was enroute home.

The Warning boy also said they were traveling 75 miles an hour when they went into the curve and the car went out of control and rolled over several times.

James Smetana, police chief at Mokena, first officer to reach the scene, and Deputy Sheriff Paul Lukanich testified as to how the boys and car were strewn along the road.

Lukanich also told of talking to Duffy and Warning at the hospital and they had admitted the car was traveling at 75 miles an hour when it went out of control.

Lukanich gave Duffy a ticket charging him with operating a car without a driver's license.

Coroner Blood said he had hoped the jury would make a recommendation which might (Continued to page 2)

Land Use Map and Subdivision Measure Get O.K. at Frankfort

The Frankfort village board at its regular meeting Tuesday night—held then because of Monday having been Labor Day—adopted the land use map and the subdivision ordinance proposed by the firm of engineers employed by Frankfort and Mokena to outline a master plan for the area.

Minor changes were made in the land use map but it is substantially the same as submitted by the planning authorities.

The subdivision ordinance drawn by the planners also was subjected to some changes. These changes dealt with the construction of streets. The same specifications for material are retained but instead of calling for different widths, as was the case in the engineer's measure, the one adopted provides for 66 foot right of way for all streets.

There is to be a 22 foot paved strip, bordered on each side by seven foot gravel strips that will serve for parking space. Bordering these strips will be the curbs. The curbs are to be of the rolling type over which a car may pass and so constructed that a gutter is provided. The space between curb lines will be 40 feet.

The village board has also adopted several changes recommended by the planners for the Frankfort zoning ordinance.

One of the amendments prohibits the use of commercial property for residential purposes except for the owner or manager of a business. And a property used for business purposes cannot be converted into residential units later.

Such a provision, it was pointed out, eliminates what may become a slum.

Village Engineer Robert Hamilton submitted complete sewer system and the plans drawings for the Frankfort were discussed in great detail. The plans now go to Springfield for approval by the state water board and health department and when that is forth-

Await Word On Toman Case In Turk Court

How James Toman, 19, a sailor in the U.S. navy, fared when confronted with an alleged expert on injuries in another appearance in a Turkish court, is something that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Toman of New Lenox are anxiously waiting to hear.

The last letter the mother and father received from the youth related that he was scheduled to have another hearing on Aug. 27. Since that time the Tomans have not heard from him nor have they had any word from the judge advocates department of the navy.

It will be a year Saturday, Sept. 12, that James Toman and another U.S. sailor were sentenced to 10 months imprisonment at Izmir, Turkey. They were alleged to have mutilated a Turkish flag, a charge both have steadfastly denied.

Apparently the navy believes them because there is no mark against their records as a result of the alleged incident.

During the early part of his stay in prison Toman was directed to plaster and white wash his cell. In the process some of the plaster went thru a window as Toman was filling a hole in the wall. Some of the plaster struck a Turkish prisoner in the eye.

At the time the incident was written off as an accident. Later the Turkish prisoner lost an eye and the plaster was blamed. Late last spring a criminal charge was put against Toman under a Turkish law that provides for fine and imprisonment or both of one causing an accident that results in personal injury.

Toman finished his original sentence in July but has been held since on the other charge. There have been several court hearings and the injured prisoner, his mother, other prisoners and prisoners and prison officials testified that the damage to the eye was purely accidental.

The presiding judge said that even though it was an accident he believed someone should pay something to the injured Turk. The someone meant was Uncle Sam and the federal government did make a payment that was satisfactory to the prisoner (Continued to page 2)

Death Takes Annie Breidert

Funeral services were held last Friday afternoon at the Hirsch chapel, Tinley Park, for Mrs. Annie Breidert, 81, of Frankfort. The Rev. Erich Bizer, pastor of St. Peter's church Frankfort, officiated. Interment was in the Frankfort cemetery.

Mrs. Breidert died on Wednesday, Sept. 2, at the Lincoln Nursing home, Joliet, following a long illness.

She was a daughter of William Klepper, a wagon maker, who was one of the early residents of Frankfort. She was born at Frankfort Feb. 18, 1878 and married to William Breidert in 1916. Mr. Breidert was a carpenter and died in 1945.

Besides a son, William, Mrs. Breidert is survived by a sister, Lulu, Mrs. Gilbert Schmuhl, and a granddaughter, all of Frankfort.

Thirteen courses from seven different areas of study will be offered at the Lincoln-Way Community high school fall adult education school, scheduled to open Sept. 24, 1959.

Census Bureau To Collect Data On Polio Shots

Information on polio shots will be collected from a number of local families in connection with the September Current Population Survey, Director Theodore F. Olson of the Census Bureau's regional field office in Chicago, announced today.

The information is being collected for the United States Public Health Service so that estimates of the number of persons who have had polio shots can be brought up to date. The polio shot questions to be asked of persons under 60 years of age, are: Have you had any polio injections or shots? How many shots have you already had? When did you get the latest shot?

The polio shot questions will be in addition to the regular monthly inquiries on employment and unemployment. The Current Population Survey will be conducted here and in 329 other sample areas in the County during the week of Sept. 14

Install New Fire Alarm System at Ann Rutledge

The Ann Rutledge school in Lincoln Estates, Frankfort Township, has received several improvements for the start of a new school year.

A new fire alarm system has been installed in the school and a barbecue pit erected.

The school board also has acquired some additional land to the north of the school in order to enlarge the playground. The lot is 100 feet wide and has been cleaned off and graded for a baseball field. Later it is hoped the field can be used for football.

A protective fence, 12 feet high has been erected around the area to protect the children in the play area.

At the Aug. 31 meeting of the school board, more manual than legislative business was taken care of. The members of the board washed windows. The outside of the building was painted this summer.

Sandburg High

Of these 16 persons at Sandburg for the first time, seven are additional members needed due to increased enrollment. Resignation, retirement and leave of absence were among the reasons for having to replace nine 1958-59 staff members.

AWAIT WORD— (Continued from page 1) and his family.

Everyone appeared to be satisfied and the navy was hopeful for release of Tomany when some Turk who claims to be an expert and able to tell whether the injury was caused accidentally or intentionally appeared on the scene and demanded time to appear in court against the young sailor.

That hearing was scheduled for Aug. 27 but no word has arrived yet as to whether it was held and if so what was done.

Young Tomany told his parents in recent letters that the Turks, who are supposed to be allies, have been carrying on a campaign against U.S. service men. The men believe the charges are mostly trumped up and are lodged mainly to facilitate shakedowns or provide the populace with a means of letting off steam.

New dispatches from Izmit last week told of the arrest of four members of the U.S. Air Force charged with black market deals.

coming the village will advertise for bids.

It was believed that bids could be taken early next month in time for the board to let a contract for the work and sell the bonds within the period in which the same price as the original bid will prevail.

The bonds were sold several months ago to a Chicago house and the bid price will hold until November. After that the market figure will govern the transaction.

The board has arranged for the installation of four more vapor lights for the streets. Three of them will be on Nebraska street and one on White.

CORONERS JURY—
aid authorities in combatting high speed crashes, especially among juveniles. Letting children drive cars is a sure way, the coroner said, to increase the number of traffic fatalities.

The verdict however was simply that the Neels boy's death was accidental. There was no mention of speed or the fact that the driver of the car was under age and by law should not have been permitted to drive.

The Motor club reminds you that good visibility is essential to safe driving. Never drive even short distances if the windshield and windows of your car are not free of insects, road film, and other dirt accumulations. Remember, you have to see danger in order to avoid it.

Some of these projects are grass waterways which enable farming across the ditches instead of in between them; and terracing to stop the loss of the ever depleting top soil as well as conserving water for the crops in these fields.

"All land owners in the county, both men and women, should be vitally interested in conservation and the work of the Will County Soil Conservation District," a spokesman said. "This trip will be an opportunity for men and women to see what the district is accomplishing, and be an encouragement for land owners to take more advantage of the Will County Soil Conservation Service."

2 1/2 Miles of Wire 15,234 Paper Roses Are Used On Float

The Knights of Columbus, Father C. C. Boyle Council No. 4698, of St. George Catholic church, Tinley Park, are proud of the float entered in the Fall Festival Labor Day parade.

Bill Bingham was in charge of its construction. Members used 2 1/2 miles of wire and 15,234 hand made rosettes for the float, which were pulled thru a framework of wire.

The large K. of C. emblem was hand painted by Mrs. Pat Lloyd of 6725 W. 174th pl., Tinley Park.

Mrs. William Judge painted four signs depicting the four Principles of the Order which were used very prominently on the float. Most of the material used in its construction was donated.

Schools Add to Traffic Hazards

Now that school is open again it will be well for motorists to use extra caution in and near school zones.

Motorists also are reminded that when school buses are halted to permit youngsters to board or leave the vehicle other traffic must stop, whether approaching or trailing.

Too many motorists fail to heed this law and some serious accidents have resulted. Fortunately none has occurred in this area and it is hoped there will not be. Last year bus drivers reported several instances in this area where motorists passed up buses while they were halted to take on youngsters.

In some cases the drivers were able to get the license numbers of the offenders and warrants were obtained. As a result some of the violators were fined.

However, observance and enforcement of the law relating to school buses, is only a part of the problem. There are many schools in the area that do not have bus service. Pupils walk to and from school and in too many instances there are no sidewalks. This means that youngsters have to walk along the edge of streets and highways.

Carelessness on the part of motorists, can result in tragedy. Drivers approaching children should slow down and be on guard against any sudden moves on the part of the youngsters.

It only takes a split second for a child to dart out in the path of a car and unless the driver is alert there will be an accident.

Young bicycle riders are another hazard for the motorists. Cyclists, by the way, are supposed to operate under the same laws regulating automobiles.

Thanks to safety classes conducted by various grade schools during the summer, cyclists are learning the rules of the road but there are still too many of them that weave back and forth across streets and highways or ride against traffic.

But after all they are children and one should not expect them to exhibit mature judgement. For that reason the auto driver

Larry White Injured in Sand Cave-in

By Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson
Lockport 886W2

Larry White, 21, of E. Seventh st., was seriously injured when operating a large excavating machine in a Lemont sand pit early last week. The sand caved in, taking with it a large rock, throwing him back onto the tractor. Two vertebrae were injured. At Silver Cross hospital, he was placed in a cast Tuesday. His father, Wrey, also a patient at the hospital, is improving following a heart attack.

The Good Luck Camp of Royal Neighbors will meet in the Homer church social rooms Thursday pm., Sept. 17. There will be no appointed hostesses, but a wiener roast will be enjoyed after the regular session, as the group were unable to have the roast as planned for the August meeting.

A car which was abandoned near the Ed Cobb home on Bruce Rd. last Saturday, was traced by police as belonging to a man in southern Illinois. The driver of the new car, attempting to turn onto E. Division st. from Cedar rd. last Sunday pm., lost control and went into the deep hole on the south side of the road. The front wheels were so deeply imbedded in the mud that it was necessary to call a wrecker to dislodge it. The two middle aged men who were its occupants, were unhurt.

When jaws of primitive people are examined, a high degree of immunity to dental disease is found. Their diet consisted of raw, coarse food which gave the mouth tissues a firm scrubbing.

Modern day preparation of soft, sticky foods give the teeth and gums little work to do. Furthermore the soft food sticks to the teeth offering favorable soil for bacterial growth.

Foods conducive to dental and general health include vegetables and fruits, cereals and bread, meat, fish, poultry eggs, milk products and butter or margarine.

Dentists occasionally see patients who have healthy looking gums and never use a toothbrush. A case history often shows they chew such foods as stale, hard bread and coarse vegetables.

Next week: Other Diseases of the Mouth.

It is most important that all drivers know their traffic signs, says the Chicago Motor club. Good drivers should know what a traffic sign says even before they are close enough to read the lettering.

You should be able to recognize the sign's meaning by its standard shape. For instance a stop sign is octagon-shaped; a yield right of way sign is triangular; a hill warning is diamond shaped; and a railroad crossing warning is round.

The Kings Daughters were pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Clara Kettering at her home in Lockport Thursday pm. An interesting item of the program was a discussion planned by Mrs. F. J. Paddock in which the entire group participated. It was based on the Bible lesson from the book of Acts. Plans were made for a shower of small kitchen utensils for the Hannah Harwood Girls club, also for a bake sale to be held at the October meeting.

The Sunday school teachers met at the parsonage Wednesday evening to arrange for Rally Day which will be held this year Sept. 20. All children and young people in the community not now enrolled in a Sunday school, are urged to unite with the Homer group at this time. There will be a program by the 60 or more people now affiliated with the school in place of the regulation lesson at the usual time of 9:30 am.

Another Summer has joined the parade of the Past Seasons.

True summer does not end its official stay until the autumnal equinox, which this year falls on Sept. 23, but for all practical purposes its reign was finished on Labor Day.

Tell anyone Labor Day is the last day of summer and the chances are you'll not get any arguments—except from some purists who would insist upon waiting until precisely 12:09 p. m. central daylight saving time, before admitting that summer had run its course for 1959.

To most folks Labor Day marks the close of summer just as Memorial Day marks the beginning.

Labor Day is when one discards his straw hat, assuming there are men who still make use of this type of head covering—it is also the day that one closes up a summer cottage—if one has a summer cottage—it is the day that puts a period to vacations for most adults and all youngsters of school age—it also serves to automatically close one door and open another in the sports department of the mind so that thoughts turn from base ball, golf, and swimming to football, bowling, hunting, bridge and parchesi.

Summer is usually a leisurely time—business men and workers alike are ever ready to listen to the voice of temptation... "Why not knock off early today...the fish are biting...the fairways are in wonderful shape...how about a drive up to your summer cottage...all right then, how about a drive up to so and so's summer cottage", and so on and so on.

Service club luncheons, dinners, committee meetings, lodge meetings...which if held in the summer...are things one can always find an excuse to miss. But when Labor Day comes somehow one finds himself ready to pick up where he left off Memorial day.

Now that summer has gone one shoulders the old pack again. Members of clubs and organizations are warned that program chairmen are bustling about lining up talent for the coming year and those who lead the community singing are spraying their throats and exposing their ears gradually to the current crop of so-called TV and radio "singing stars" who do such a wonderful job in flattening the same time forcing the notes, keeping off key and at sounds thru their noses. A week or so of intense listening to modern hit records is guaranteed to build up a resistance to odd noises that will last them thru the season.

As a rule mass singing—providing the crowd is large enough—is not too bad as there are enough persons who can carry a tune or have a sense of harmony to drown out those who would like to sing but shouldn't.

The weather the past week carried a touch of fall which was quite welcome after the heat wave but it is to be hoped ed that the weatherman doesn't go completely ga-ga and bring in ice and snow—at least until after the world series.

At the same time most of us wouldn't mind a cool September. Since Labor day has brought an end to most summer activities, those of us who have yards to cut would be glad to have the grass slow down a bit so we get some rest before putting snow shovels to work.

While Labor Day marks the end of summer it doesn't indicate the beginning of fall. Regardless of what the calendar says, fall doesn't really arrive until the leaves begin to turn or drop.

Bonfires of leaves yield an odor that is as much a part of fall as pumpkins and apple cider. The only trouble with this is that before one can have a bonfire one must rake the leaves.

It seems like there is always something.

DENTAL HEALTH

A dentist uses a variety of instruments to treat the diseases of the gums and supporting tissues.

All septic material must be painstakingly removed. All traces of tartar must be carefully eliminated.

Contrary to advertisements of dental quacks, pus pockets cannot be injected with some miraculous mixture to clear up the disease. Such injections may actually interfere with nature's processes of repair.

Occasionally, when pus pockets are too large, it may be necessary to cut away tissue. The gum architecture is then beveled in a way that makes certain no little crevices are left for further pocket formation.

Treatment in the dentist's office must be followed by home care and the patient must learn the proper use of the toothbrush.

Diet is another important aspect in home care following periodontal disease treatment. Unfortunately, conditions of civilization fail to give the teeth and jaws the vigorous exercise essential to their normal development.

When jaws of primitive people are examined, a high degree of immunity to dental disease is found. Their diet consisted of raw, coarse food which gave the mouth tissues a firm scrubbing.

Modern day preparation of soft, sticky foods give the teeth and gums little work to do. Furthermore the soft food sticks to the teeth offering favorable soil for bacterial growth.

Carl Sandburg Switches to the "T"

Devine Counts on Enough Speed To Make Shift in Offensive Work

Sports Editor
A non-committal Joe Devine, Carl Sandburg football coach, talked about speed and need of it for the offensive attack for the new Eagle T-formation. Devine has been using the single-wing formation since he came to the Orland Bluff about four years ago. "This year we have more speed and a little less size and thus we have switched our offense," he stated.

He was quite happy with the spirit of his young squad, he welcomed back eight lettermen, three of them saw action as regulars last fall.

"This is the most spirited bunch that I have coached since coming to Sandburg," confided the agile mentor.

"The squad likes contact work and they have plenty of desire. You know," he philosophized, "spirit can make up for quite a few things."

Joe's eyes lit up as he talked of his line play. For this early in the season, the line is coming around exceptionally well. Of course, they are not ready to play and how strong they are remains to be seen, but they are certainly making practice enjoyable.

"My group of offensive guards are the best that I have ever coached," smiled Devine.

Returning lettermen, Tony LeVine and Vince DiBenedetto, along with Charley Kallstrom, Ray Heniff, and John Neal drew this kind of praise from Devine. None of the guards are exceptionally large, but they are big enough and Devine hopes fast enough.

Devine has converted a couple tackles to the center spot. Dave Peterson and Walter Ries both lettered as tackles last year, but presently engaged in a battle with John Rupert for the center position.

Four tackles are listed by Devine as prospects. They are Bob Aulwurm, Walter Helm — both lettermen — Joel Olbrenski, and Gary Kozbiel.

For the ends there are no lettermen and Sandburg will face the enemy with all juniors.

Duane Erickson, Ted LeVine, Boll Gorey, Joe Tracka are the four candidates for the ends. Gorey is the only one much over six foot, but a couple of these shorter lads seem to be able to get there and catch the pass.

For the new spot, quarterback it appears that junior Roger Brown has the edge over, senior, Jerry McBride at the present time. "Brown has developed very fast over the last week," Devine said.

Bud Swayne, leading scorer on last years all winning fresh-soph, Jim Jeffries a rugged ball carrier, Dan Wassick, big and fast, Bron Hynk, and senior, Paul Bush, have the inside track for the halfback slots.

Dick Barry has shown plenty of spark at fullback this fall, but you can't count out returning letterman, Randy Cernak. Junior Dave Bormet is also being given consideration by Coach Devine.

It becomes certain that Devine's charges will have some depth this coming football season, but there are a few spots of weakness, due to inexperience.

He had no comment on what he thought his team would be over the year. He probably was justified, only a couple of games will really tell what can be expected from the young Eagles from Orland Park.

If Devine gets the "Buck Rogers" speed he may get these Eagles into a winning orbit. Don't count on them to flop like the first "Explorer."

"king of the midgets."

On Labor Day, the traffic was far too heavy on the track and he had to start too far back and had to settle for third place in the big car race.

Some week-end for a man who is over 40 years of age. He is beginning to be considered the agless wonder of the track. Tony battles and shows up in the money with all the bright young stars.

Next weekend he is driving in the 100-mile big car event at Syracuse, New York. He is expecting to boot the John Zink car into the winners spot. Just two weeks ago he had made a joke of the 200-mile at Milwaukee, when an oil line broke and forced him out of the race at the 160-mile mark.

Pick Tattersall To Win 50-Lap Race at Joliet

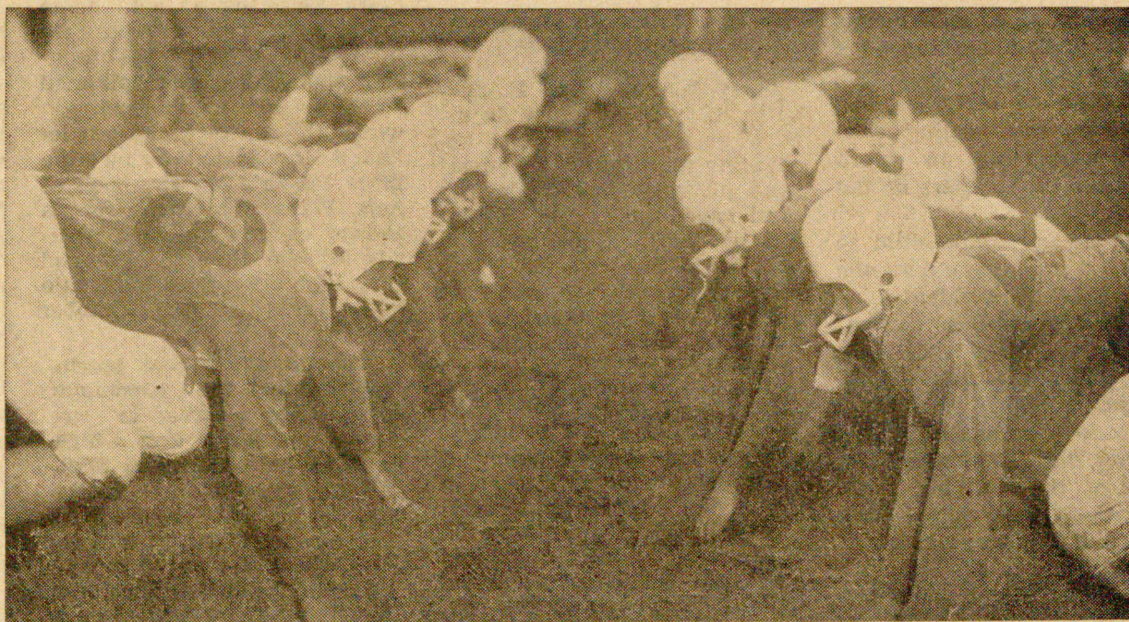

Bob Tattersall, expert at long distances, is the odds-on favorite to win the season's fifth 50 lap feature in the midget auto race Saturday night at Joliet Memorial Stadium.

Tattersall, of Streator, has won all four previous 50 lap events, plus two at 25 laps to virtually clinch the 1959 be his second straight track title, and third since 1956.

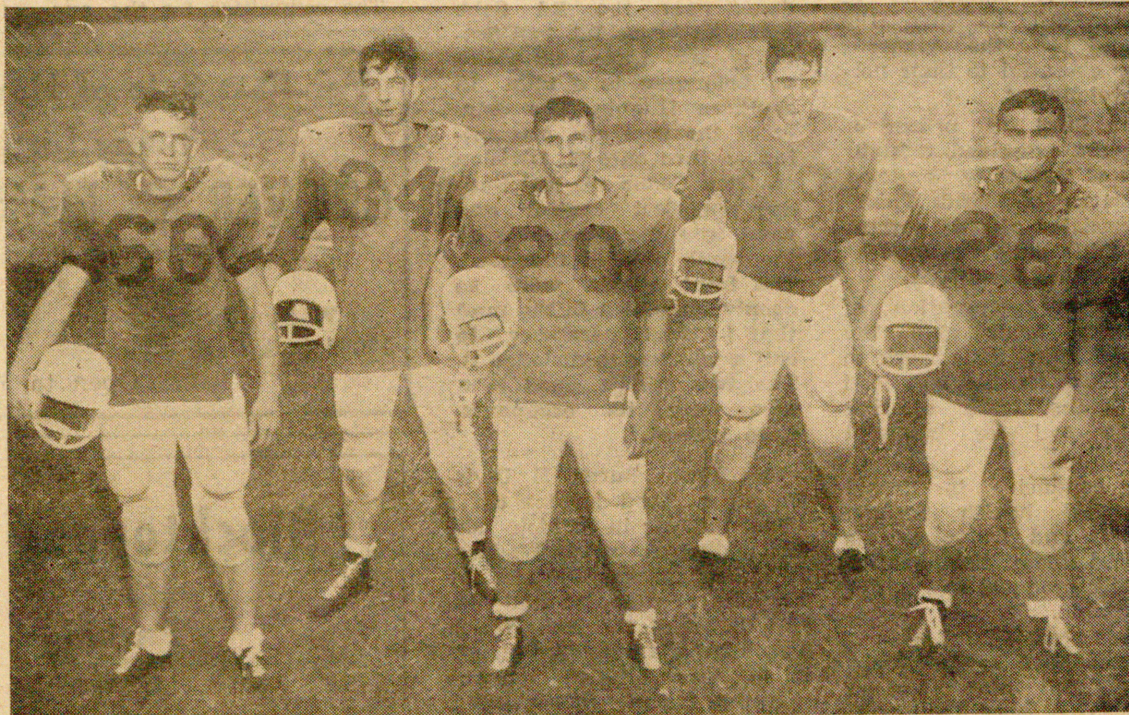

Not far behind Tattersall in the track point standings is Chicago ace Danny Kladis. Kladis has won five main events, and is the only driver with three straight feature victories.

His victory streak was cut off last week end when Billy Woods of Kenosha, Wis., came through for his second feature triumph of the year.

Among the other drivers in contention Saturday will be Tony Lenti of Chicago, Byron Fischer of Lemont, Bernie Wilhelm and Bob Hauck, both of Joliet, all previous feature race winners, plus Russ Colombo of Hillsdale, Walt Wenneke of Libertyville, Jerry

Matter of Naperville and George Sellery, Westchester.

At least 45 cars are expected to be in the lineup Saturday. Included on the program will be four heat races, a handicapped, 15 lap semifinal and the 50 lap feature. Time trials start at 7:30 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 p.m.

Browsing Through The Cold Stove League

By Dean Dallas
Sports Editor

Pre-season previews on the football teams are now underway. Two more previews will follow in the Semmler Press — these on Carl Sandburg and Bremen and then will come the opening feature on the SWS League opener.

However, that ever present question continues to pop up its head: "Who shall win the SW Suburban League crown?" Fine question. But I'm not sure that one knows at this moment.

Few schools have had more than five or six drills, but it seems that many of the athletes have been conditioning over the summer for most of the teams are consistently using contact in practice.

That all important question at this point — who shall win the SWS? I don't really think that we know the answer to that question.

Here are a few educated guesses! Rich will be strong and know how to use line play to a surprising degree for high school "kids." Bremen will not have Dennis Tattum, but should sport all around balance and a little more "beef" than last season.

People are expecting to hear from Orland Bluff. Carl Sandburg, who produced the top frosh-soph outfit of last season, might come up with a football surprise as they did in baseball last spring.

We have not talked, personally, with any of the three mentioned head coaches, but they are known to be a little optimistic and not haggard with worry.

It's hard to put the league into a three team race this early in the football season for we are still three weeks away from a SWS opener. But don't be one bit surprised if it turns out to be a three team affair.

Before I forget, don't choke on your "Coke" if one of these teams grabs that pigskin for one of those unbeaten years. By all means don't swallow your hot dog whole.

Homewood-Flossmoor might make a ripple on the scene, but don't count on them for a title challenger the first year out in SWS wars. The news states that the H-F coaches will have a good football team in about two years.

Larry Callan and Joe DeVine would like nothing better than to end the Rich football cartel of the SWS.

This we are hoping for, but we aren't really counting on it. If we go to the insane land of all predictors, Dopsters are just that. But they get paid and in many cases, not this one, very well.

We gave Jonas Lashmet of Lincoln-Way a few extras in the paper last week. We gave Joney a few extra letters in the headline. I have a feeling that he would enjoy a few more lettermen on the football squad.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
By faith we understand that the world was created by the word of God, so that what is seen was made out of things which do not appear. — (Hebrews 11:3.)
We have never "seen" electricity or the "waves" which carry radio and TV sounds and images. Yet we have faith in them, for we know that they are, and that they don't just happen. How, then, can anyone doubt that God is?

Motorists should be extra careful during the first few weeks of the new school year, cautions the Chicago Motor club. Many youngsters will be making their first venture into school life and may let the excitement cause them to forget their safety habits. Drive slowly in school zones and give the youngsters a chance to grow up and learn.

UNCHANGED Three years ago while looking for picture material in Tinley Park the Semmler Press photographer took a shot of the sidewalk on the west side of Oak Park avenue at 172nd st. At that time the walk was full of cracks and holes. Last week end while wandering about the community he took another picture at the same spot where the other was taken. The walk is still full of cracks and holes. For the sake of the taxpayers the hope has been expressed that no one will fall while traversing this section and suffer injuries that will enable them to get a thumping big judgement against the village. It was pointed out that the village could eliminate such a possibility by installing a new walk. The new walk was suggested because it was believed the present one is beyond repair.

Explains What Inflation Means

By CONG. N. M. MASON
(15th Cong. Dist)

What does today's inflation mean to the workers? To the man on salary? To the retired person?

To the worker it means that if he earned $3,000 per year in 1942, he must earn $5,613 to live as well as he did in 1942.

To the man on salary — with a wife and two children — it means that if he had a salary of $5,000 in 1942, he must now receive a salary of $9,233 to live as well as he did in 1942.

So unless you have doubled your income since 1942, you are in worse financial condition today than you were then.

That is what inflation means to you.

Representative Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee on June 5 pinned the responsibility for reckless spending directly on Congress which has been controlled by the Democrats since 1954. Representative Cannon speaking to the House said:

"We cannot escape the responsibility for the situation as we find it today. Congress spent the money and increased the national debt and brought on the inflation. The responsibility is right here on this floor. We cannot offer an alibi. We cannot pass the buck. And the reason can no longer sell bonds at 2 per cent is because we have steadily and stubbornly and continuously refused to retrench expenditure and begin systematically and methodically to reduce the national debt and stop inflation. Congress did it and let no one try to make the people back home believe different."

Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Malnar and family of Tinley Park; Mr. and Mrs. James Hischer and son Jeffery of Joliet; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cleveland and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Huttenhoff and family of New Lenox and Mrs. Mary Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith and family of Joliet were guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sproat.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sievert attended the Keepawaw Days parade in Lemont on Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erdmann entertained at a dinner party in their home Thursday evening in honor of the fourth birthday of their son David. Guests were Mrs. Sadie Erdmann, Mrs. Amanda Mark and Mrs. Emma Glerke of Frankfort; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schiffer and daughter Joyce and son Raymond and Carl Schiffer and children of Manhattan and Louis F. Sass.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Osborne and daughter Judy are exhibiting their goats this week at the Indiana State Fair at Indianapolis.

Mrs. Adella Sproat and Mrs. Durward Killinger and children Scott and Susan were dinner guests Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Killinger in Joliet.

Mrs. Frank Spiecker is spending this week in the Everett Bell home in Marley. Mrs. Charles Dale is spending a few days this week with friends at her summer cottage at Hayward, Wis.

The Marley Missionary Society will meet Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 16, at the home of Miss Helen and Miss Caroline Tilsy. The assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Clare Berg, Mrs. Ralph Bell and Mrs. Virginia Ferguson. The devotions will be given by Mrs. Russel Lauffer. The program "Greater Works Shall Ye Do, If You Believe" will be presented by Mrs. Ferguson.

ferent."

The writer is in full accord with the above statement.

In 1952, only 26% of American families earned over $5,000. In 1958, 43% had an annual income of over $5,000.

The average weekly wage of factory workers today is $90. In 1952, it was $67.97.

In the years of the Truman administration the cost of living went up 50%.

Under the 7 years of this administration, the increase has been held to 8%. 600,000 more houses were built in the 6 years of this Administration than in the 6 years of the Truman administration.

60% of all American families own their homes today as compared with 56% in 1952.

The "battle of the budget" has been called by President Eisenhower the "battle for a sound dollar." These are his words:

"This is not a fight to balance the budget as an end in itself. This is a fight to keep our Nation fiscally strong, so that we may maintain the forces we must have for the security of ourselves and the free world. This is a fight to make sure that a dollar earned today will tomorrow buy the housewife an equal amount of groceries. We are battling to protect the worker as he earns his pension and the retired man who must live on it. This is a fight to prevent prices from impoverishing every man, woman, and child in the Nation."

Many of us in the Congress feel the same way. We must continue our "battle for a sound dollar"

The ABC's of Farm Program
A. Quick trying to fix farm prices.

B. Free farmers gradually from controls.

C. Get rid of surplus gradually.

D. Promote markets abroad.

E. Expand markets at home.

F. Develop new crops and new uses.

G. Help small farmers help themselves.

The above ABC's constitute a sound, sane farm program, a program in line with the law of supply and demand.

On September 7 the nation honors labor. The welfare of labor and education go hand in hand with progress in all sectors of American life.

Fatigue and drowsiness at the wheel are invitations to accidents, says the Chicago Motor Club. Fight fatigue in the following ways: Get plenty of rest before any trip; stop for a break every two hours, even if it's just to get out of the car and stretch your legs; and stop for the day when you begin to have difficulty concentrating on your driving.

Our Gas Supply People
Like to Keep Ahead of Demand...
About 20 Years

Contracting for the natural gas that we pipe through our pipelines for use in homes and factories far removed from the source of supply is the job of our people in the Gas Supply Section.

In addition to buying gas to meet the day-to-day needs of our customers, they are contracting for gas in the ground that may not be delivered into our pipelines for years to come.

Our Gas Supply people are doing their job so well that we now have natural gas reserves under contract totaling more than 13 trillion cubic feet. And these reserves are being added to as new fields are discovered in areas that can be reached by our pipelines.

With delivery of gas out of these reserves running at an annual rate slightly in excess of 600 billion cubic feet, you can see that we will have gas on tap for a long, long time.

The men to whom we look to determine how much gas we have in reserve for the future are our reservoir engineers. They are highly trained specialists, most of them with long experience in oil and gas field production. From production records and a study of formation charts, they can estimate, with reasonable accuracy, the amount of gas or oil that a given well or a given field will produce in its lifetime.

Those who are most likely to appreciate the work being done by our reservoir engineers will be the householders and plant owners of the future — because they will be able to enjoy, as you do today, the clean, efficient heat of natural gas flowing from wells a thousand or more miles away through the Texas Eastern pipeline system.

This is one of a series of monthly reports on the diversified activities of Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. GUY L. LUTTRELL

Patricia Libbert, Guy Luttrell Wed at Methodist Church Aug. 15

The wedding of the former Miss Patricia Kaye Libbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Libbert of 17261 69th ave., Tinley Park; and Guy L. Luttrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Luttrell, of 18231 Sayre ave., Tinley Park, was solemnized in the Tinley Park Methodist church Aug. 15th. The Rev. Kenneth Crandall, pastor, performed the single ring ceremony.

Palms, and a bouffante of gladiolus in yellow and white decorated the church. Pews were marked with gardenias and lighted tapers and palms graced the altar.

Walter Webb, organist, and Mrs. Kenneth Crandall, harpist played appropriate wedding music as the guests assembled. Mrs. Crandall also accompanied Mr. Webb as he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk bombazine with chantilly lace panel and fitted bodice. The scoop neckline was trimmed in lace applique and tiny seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Long tapered sleeves came to a point over the wrist.

Her fingertip veil of illusion tulle was caught from a tiny white satin Juliette cap encrusted with pearls and sequins. Her crescent bouquet was of white gardenias and bachelor buttons. A tiny cultured pearl necklace completed the ensemble.

Miss Barbara Jo Libbert, sister of the bride, was the only attendant. Her cotton blue silk organza street length gown was fashioned with a scoop neckline and full skirt. She wore a blusher veil and bow-effect cap in matching blue. White satin shoes and short white gloves completed the ensemble. Her flowers were a crescent bouquet of white gladioli and plumaria in yellow.

The best man was Donald Row of Chicago. Ushers were Robert and Ted Morris, cousins of the groom, of Battle Creek, Mich., David Sheldon and Mel Van Buren, Chicago. All were attired in summer tuxedos. The bride is a graduate of Bremen high school and completed one year at Illinois Wesleyan university.

The groom is a 1959 graduate of VanderCook School of Music with a bachelor in music education degree.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Libbert wore a lavender cotton and metallic yarn sheath gown, which she knitted of imported yarn from Switzerland. Her shoes were matched to the gown. A white velvet and satin picture hat, white gloves and white satin evening bag, completed her costume. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Mrs. Luttrell, mother of the groom, wore a beige lace gown with matching hat and accessories. She wore a brown orchid corsage.

Special guests of honor were the bride's grandfather, Walter Laird of Hammond, Ind., and Mrs. Edna Morris of Chicago, grandmother of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. The bride's table was centered with a 4-tier wedding cake, baked by Robert Miller of Wilkenson, Ind., uncle of the bride. Two smaller cakes were artfully decorated in pink and white with bridal motif. Flowers for the bride table were huckleberry garlands and gardenias. The church parlor was decorated with white satin ribbons, wedding bells and white palm branches.

A unique part of the reception was a surprise for the bride, prepared by her mother. A "This Is Your Life, Pat", done in a series of pictures from babyhood until the final picture, one of the bride, taken minutes before with a polaroid camera, formed a picture wall, the lettering on which was done by Mrs. Larry Bettenhausen, a friend of the bride.

Following a wedding trip, the young couple are now at home in Swayzee, Ind., where the groom is music director at the junior-senior high school.

Science Will Cook, Preserve Foods and Even Wash Dishes

When the family of tomorrow goes out to dinner, it may well seem like a page out of today's science fiction.

Mildred Bonnell, restaurant management adviser at the University of Illinois, says that foods may be cooked by radar and preserved by atomic energy, and dishes may be washed by sound waves.

Radar cooking is already a reality, but it's still too expensive for the average large operator, and it still needs some improvements. For instance it doesn't brown a product to give it a well-cooked appearance.

Food technologists are trying to perfect atomic preservation of food, a possibility that may revolutionize the entire food industry.

Restaurant equipment is also changing. Research is progressing in the field of sonic dishwashing, a method of removing soil from dishes by sound waves. Although it won't be ready for another 10 years, it's a strong possibility for the future. Hospitals are already using this process for sterilizing surgical instruments.

Miss Bonnell points out that the May issue of a food service publication described a speculative industrial cafeteria of 2,000 A.D.

In such a restaurant, the walls and ceiling are not painted but are colored as desired by a concealed colored light source. The dining room floor revolves slowly around the central service area so that when a patron leaves the cashier's station he need only step aboard.

As tables are emptied, they are carried beneath an overhead bridge, where they are instantly cleaned by ultra-high frequency waves. Dishes, which are plastic, and trays are also cleaned and sterilized by high frequency. They might also be removed from the table by a power vacuum cleaner.

The publication goes on to predict that foods will be pre-portioned and prepackaged before delivery to the restaurant, so no kitchen will be necessary.

The portions will be placed in food stations similar to current self-service units in shopping centers. The customer selects his foods by pushing a button, and the packages are deposited on his tray. Nuclear energy keeps the food packages from spoiling, and electronic ovens in the cabinet heat the foods within a few seconds.

As the tray reaches the cashier's station, it is scanned by a tele-computing device that throws the total amount of the check upon a screen visible to both the customer and the cashier.

Miss Bonnell believes many of these things may come about before 1980. She says that by then the present "modern" methods of preparing food in quantities may be as outdated as the 7-course menu is today.

Co-Ordinating Council Discusses Need for Community Center Bldg.

By EVELYN VAN HORN
Sycamore 8-8921

Need for a community center was discussed at the Sept. 1 meeting of the recently organized Co-Ordinating Council. As a result, all representatives of the Council and other interested persons will contact home owner delegates in order to obtain public reaction. Also, the president of the Homeowners Association, Cole Keys, will be contacted by Roger Chavanne, chairman of the Co-Ordinating Council, to have the matter discussed at the next meeting of the association and requesting their active participation in studying the problem.

Comments made regarding a community center by Mayor James Nally, Aldermen Ray Hoewing and James O'Connell, were that any building constructed for this purpose must conform to the city building codes. Also that the government at present did not have funds for such a building, and that the city hall could not be used by civic organizations according to the lease with the Merriam company.

An unofficial statement from the Homeowners Association was read to the effect that this body cannot support such a project at the present time, pointing out that churches and the city government in the future will have suitable buildings for community activities.

According to the architect, Del Forsgren, who has made a study of the construction of a proposed community center building, the minimum cost would be $20,000, based on a frame building, meeting building code requirements, and size of the community. Such a building, he reported, should be constructed to seat 250 persons, and have a total square feet area of 25,000.

Clayton Ammondson reported on tentative fees for renting school rooms. At Willowview school, a fee of $15 is charged for renting the gymnasium for a 3 hour period; $4 for a small classroom, and $10 for the hall. A special fee of $10 is charged for youth groups in the afternoon. In order to cut operating expenses, Ammondson stated the school board hopes more than one meeting per evening could be scheduled at the new school.

A suggestion was made that a community wide money making activity, sponsored by all the civic organizations, be held to initiate a building fund for a community center, perhaps making it an annual community effort.

The Building department of the city is working very hard making inspections and keeping up with new construction, as evidenced by the report for the month of August. Otmar Becker, building commissioner, reports that in the month of August, 39 new home permits were issued with a valuation of $649,500, 4 garage permits with a valuation of $4500, and four alteration permits with a valuation of $1,220. Total valuation for the month is $655,220. Permit fees collected for the month of August are $3,695.25.

United Christian Church
The executive committee of the United Christian church voted unanimously at the Sept. 2 meeting, to sponsor Boy Scout and Cub Scout troops, formerly sponsored by the Civic Association, recently dissolved. A new scout charter will be issued in October.

The committee also elected two from its membership, Robert Landeen, chairman, and Mrs. William Marquardsen, to represent the executive committee on the nominating committee for the election of officers under the new constitution. At the Sept. 13 congregational meeting, three other members of the church will be elected from the floor to serve on the first nominating committee.

Plans are underway for a pancake breakfast to be held Sunday, Sept. 20. Final arrangements are not yet completed. It will be a money-making effort to support the maintenance of the church and the public is invited.

A Sunday School committee toured the new Willowview school to determine where classes will meet. The church is looking forward to holding Sunday school classes and church services in the school in the near future.

Jr. Chamber

The members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are making final arrangements for the Halloween dance, which they are sponsoring Oct. 31, in the VFW hall, Homewood. This will be a costume ball and two prizes will be awarded for Spaghetti Dinner.

The Women's Club held its first fall meeting Wednesday, Sept. 2. Plans were made during the business meeting to hold a spaghetti dinner Sunday, Oct. 25 in the VFW hall in Homewood.

It was also decided at the business meeting to have a winter boot exchange in children's sizes at the October meeting. All women are requested to bring boots children have outgrown and they may be able to exchange them for a larger size.

The children's variety show was the highlight of the evening. The children who participated were Donald Foster on piano, Tony Turek on accordion, members of Miss Pat White's ballet classes, Marie Panici, Ingrid Ammondson, Georgia and Yvonne Peterson, Annis and Pat Patton, Pam Warzinski and Peggy Murrey, Pat Ferguson on piano, Nancy Thomas on organ, Linda Ford on accordion, Bonnie Olson, a ballet dance, and Dottie Belle Ferris on piano.

Guest speaker for the Oct. 7 meeting was Mrs. E. Manthey of the Book and Gift Shop in Homewood who dem

Cook Co. Ass't Farm Adviser

The following report was released in the Agribusiness Outlook which is an industry government report to agriculture.

"Price support reports and analyses concentrate primarily on little known but none the less significant aspects. The aim is to contribute toward a better balance to the information usually available from Washington sources.

To some degree, this is the case against price supports as viewed by a non-governmental expert. It is essentially the viewpoint of the current administration since it comes from the University which is given credit for providing the keystone for Secretary Benson's philosophy, Cornell.

Comments following are a part of an analysis recently made by Dr. Herrell DeGraff, Babcock Professor of Food Economics, Cornell U.

There is widespread belief that if price supports were eliminated agriculture would be bankrupt. Except for the problem of handling the accumulated government stock piles, this is ridiculous.

There are 175 million people in this country who eat -- and they require a lot of food. As the population continues to increase, more food will be needed -- just about in proportion as the population does expand.

That is, we are not in a position to feed any large and continuing increase in population from present levels of food production. And, a total industry is not likely to go broke with a large and expanding market that has to be supplied.

There is a point of view which says that we must maintain the price supports to protect the small farms. This is either ignorance or fraud. The greatest threat to the survival of the little farm is price supports that make big farms possible; they remove the risk factor that otherwise would prevent really big farms from developing.

Continued price supports are actually the death knell of the little farm -- the most sure means of changing agriculture into a system of predominant big farms.

DeGraff analyzes the price support costs. He says that in fiscal year 1958, the realized net cost to the government was $2.7 billion. This is the actual cost and loss for price-propping during the year. It is probably the best figure to reflect what price support programs actually have cost the taxpayers.

Because half of this outlay, roughly, went for administrative costs, storage transportation and interest on government stockpiles -- the support program have cost taxpayers $2 to each $1 of this kind of subsidy to farmers.

DeGraff "guesstimates" the subsidies to agriculture in aggregate dollars at between $1½ billion to $2 billion a year -- and each $1 of this costs taxpayers $2. If this is so, he says, net subsidies that reach farmers would be about one eighth of last year's rate of net farm income, which he says was $14.2 billion.

Furthermore, if each subsidy

Business and Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

Labor Day has come to be generally used as the start of a new business period. Vacations are usually over and the public's buying trend for Fall and Winter are watched carefully.

For the past several weeks, the stock market has been erratic in its movements. Many of the so called glamor stocks in electronics and chemical field had risen to the point where market prices were discounting the success of these firms for some distance in the future. A number of these stocks do not have the market seasoning and stability to attract the institutional investors and are largely held by what are loosely termed as speculators. These stocks are vulnerable to sudden changes in investment attitudes.

A study of market movements of stocks generally during these weeks, would show that the better grade stocks have not declined greatly and that some have advanced. This has been what is termed a period of "selective" investment.

Also during this period, it will be noted that the total volume of stock market trading has declined as prices fell. This indicated a small amount of selling under pressure to do so. It has also been very evident that there has been substantial buying of better grade stocks on declines.

Most business analysts expect general business to remain at a high level of activity. Expenditures for expanding of manufacturing facilities has been considerably greater than was anticipated a few months ago. Such expansion of facilities is thought to be on a scientific basis only, but it is obvious that the attitude of the Directors as to general business, has considerable influence on expansion decisions of various firms.

The National Bureau of Economic Research as quoted by the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, states that adverse trends in the following eight indicators, precede business turn down by the average number of months indicated after each indicator noted: wholesale price index, 5 mos.; new incorporations, 4 months; average hours worked, 7 mos.; non residential building contracts, 13 months; new orders for durable goods, 6 months; failure liabilities of corporations, 10 months; and industrial stock prices, 7 months. According to the survey, all of the above indicators continue to expand.

A sour point for some investors, has been the situation as regards the aircraft manufacturers who depend to a large extent on defense contracts. Recent emphasis, for defense, has been on missiles, but aircraft manufacturers who depend the prime contracts to manufacture the missiles, do little more than produce the air frames. An average of 75 per cent of the purchase contract as to missiles, is going to sub contractors who are largely manufacturers of electronic components used. There is an excess of air frame manufacturing capacity. Those few aircraft manufacturers who have been developing civilian markets rather than defense contracts, report good business. Business analysts are wat-

Mokena

Book Club to Participate in Annual Picnic

The Mokena Book club, sponsors of the local library, will again participate in the annual Community picnic, to be held Sept. 19 and 20, in Community park.

The club will have a booth to sell books, both old and new for adults and children.

Since this is the only source of revenue for the club, and is used to purchase additional books for the library, it is hoped that everyone attending the picnic will stop and browse for bargains.

Anyone having books they are willing to donate to this project, are urged to call Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Mokena 5175. Ernest Edwards, who underwent surgery for removal of cataracts on both eyes at South Shore hospital, Chicago, is now recuperating at home. On Sept. 17, the regular meeting of St. John's Women's Guild will be held in the Fellowship hall.

Mrs. Roy Krohn has selected "Courtship, Marriage and Family" as her topic of discussion.

All members are reminded of the bake sale to be held in conjunction with this meeting.

Members are also urged to attend the meeting in order to make plans for the several Fall activities scheduled.

Mrs. Arthur Kuehl will serve dessert coffee at 1:30 pm, assisted by Mesdames Milton Bettenhausen, Clarence Mast, Paul Rauch, Helen Scheer, Edward Strassenberg, William Schuldt, Fred Wilmer and Erwin Yunker.

The Methodist church will hold the Sunday school picnic Sunday, Sept. 13, in Haley park in Marley, from 2 to 7 pm. Pop coffee and ice cream will be furnished. Families are requested to bring a dish for the potluck supper at 6 pm, and their own table service. There will be games for all age groups and a camp fire after supper.

When a man thinks he can reduce family extravagance by budgeting, it's usually wishful shrinking. —Changing Times.

Those of us who are content to be just average owe little to others, except a debt of gratitude to those who help keep the average down. —Changing Times.

ching the Russian moves close ly. In 1955 this country made a costly blunder of trusting the verbal expressions of the Russians as to their peace intentions and the cut back on defense and foreign aid in the cold war. It was very expensive to regain the former position after we found that Russia's words and actions were not in alignment. Most people want to hear and believe the pleasant things of life. Realism is sometimes unpleasant. Successful investors must be realistic.

Many analysts feel that hope for any change in world conditions in the near term are not well founded in facts.

VISITORS FROM INDIA—S. M. K. Bhatti (left) an engineer, and Y. J. Dress Up Front Yard for More Gracious Look

The trend toward informal backyard living plus the ready made 'landscaped home' provided by the real estate developer has brought about a horticultural paradox -- the contractor 'landscapes' the front with nothing more than a foundation planting of small evergreens. Then the proud home owner goes all out for back yard developments that may include planted patios, outdoor living rooms, and other features of gracious suburban living.

This is all well and good, but R. C. Hill, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., points to the bare 'public area' in front where trees are needed to soften sharp corners and suitably frame the picture house.

Deciduous trees are still the foundation stones of good landscaping. And fortunately they are available in excellent variety. They have, of course, long been Nature's best answer to man's shade problem and are always a top ingredient in 'climate - control' plantings.

Some of the better easy-to-obtain deciduous trees include the Norway maples, linden, pin oak, flowering dogwood, and Japanese flowering cherry. Remember, too, that one of the special virtues of deciduous trees is that with reasonable care they increase in value for many years. As they grow in size and in beauty they considerably enhance the value of the properties on which they stand.

In addition to the deciduous trees many other decorative plants may be selected from local nurseries. They may in-

Seek Place to Present Play Oct. 16-17-18

The director of dramatics of the Palos Village Players, Everett Wyatt, announced the play, "For Love or Money," scheduled for Oct. 16, 17 and 18, will be presented as planned.

The unexpected closing of the Palos Village hall, the home of the Players for the past 17 years, presents a major problem.

A committee has been appointed to canvass the area in order to locate a suitable building, with adequate facilities, before the October production.

The play has been completely cast and rehearsals are proceeding satisfactorily in the homes of members of the cast. The next board meeting of the Palos Village Players will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Lyon.

Illinois People Give $500,000 to CARE in Year

Residents of Illinois contributed $474,934 to CARE overseas aid programs during the fiscal year ended June 30th, according to the report issued by Executive Director Richard W. Reuter.

The nearly half-million dollar total constituted over six per cent of the $7,909,230 contributed by the American people as a whole during the year for CARE aid to twenty-eight countries.

Thirty per cent of all donations, or 2 1/2 times the 12% figure of the previous year, were made in support of the CARE Self-Help program. This enables the non-profit overseas aid agency to deliver tools, machinery and equipment, books and school supplies to needy villages and settlements in undeveloped areas of the world.

Inclusive of farm foods put at the disposal of CARE by the U.S. government for overseas relief, the total value of supplies shipped by CARE during the year reached $40,000,000. This brings the total value of goods delivered since the founding of CARE in November, 1945, to $325,000,000. Illinois' share in this over-all total for the nearly 14 years of CARE operations was $11,357,760.
